

FIGHTING FOR CYCLISTS' RIGHTS

Mills Law Firm, LLC
was founded in 2004,
in New Haven, Connecticut.
The firm's first offices were located at 205 Church Street,
in the historic Union and
New Haven Trust Building
that overlooks the green
from the corner of Church and Elm. From our office conference rooms we could see the monthly gathering of cyclists for the Critical Mass rides, as the cyclists assembled around the fountain in the center of the green.
Both attorneys and staff began to get more involved in cycling events in and around
New Haven, often riding to work and attending various cycling events.

As we became more involved, and talked with other cyclists, we realized that cyclists needed stronger legal advocates.

We saw that too often police sided against cyclists, and failed to take appropriate enforcement action against careless motorists.

We also noticed that many cyclists were unaware of the laws that applied to them, and that too many failed to wear helmets or to obey traffic signals, putting themselves in needless jeopardy. So we decided to start advocating for cyclist's rights, and started a campaign to better educate cyclists about the laws that affect them in Connecticut.

The legal team at Mills Law Firm, LLC represents cyclists throughout Connecticut in many different types of litigation.

We have successfully represented cyclists in cases involving claims for wrongful death, traumatic brain injury, products liability for defective equipment, negligence, and reckless conduct by motorists. We have worked with many of the top experts in cycling, and we have the resources, knowledge, and experience needed to respond quickly in cycling cases, which is often critical in order to preserve evidence and protect your rights.

Our website, www.millslawfirm.org, has an extensive list of articles, links, statutes, and other resources dedicated to safe cycling in Connecticut.

We also publish an on-line news letter, The Boneshaker Quarterly, which features local cycling news, legal topics that apply to cyclists, and a list of current cycling events. At Mills Law Firm, LLC our goal remains to fight for cyclists' rights throughout Connecticut, while at the same time educating cyclists and promoting safe cycling practices.

Stay safe, and always wear your helmet!
